FEW CHANGES IN FACULTY

Large increase in enrollment—Leave of Absences Granted—Three New Faculty Members.

The Normal School began its eleventh year of work Tuesday, Sept. 12. Many new students are here and a great number of former students have returned. The enrollment at present is 331. This is the largest enrollment ever recorded for a Fall quarter. The enrollment for last fall was 257. This shows an increase of 29 per cent.

There are few changes in the faculty this year. E. L. Harrington, who has been on leave of absence for two years, has returned to his work in the Science Department.

C. H. Belting, of Emporia, Kansas, has charge of the work in agriculture. R. A. Kinniard was formerly in charge of this work.

The work in biology will be conducted by C. C. Leeson, of Mankato, Minn. Mr. Leeson formerly held a similar position in the Normal school in that city. He is a graduate of Albion College, Michigan, and of the University of Michigan, holding the degree of bachelor of arts from the former and master of science from the latter. His teaching experience covers the rural school, high school, and normal school with positions as assistant in the college and university.

The work in English, formerly conducted by Miss Beatrix Winn, who is granted a leave of absence for the year 1916-17, will be under the direction of Miss Ruth Hunt. Miss Hunt is a graduate of the Manual Training High School, Kansas City, and of the University of Missouri with the degrees of bachelor of arts and master of arts. She has specialized in the teaching of English and has had several years experience.

Miss Nancy Gustin and Miss Leora Ellwood will assist Miss Anthony in the department of Home Economics.

YELLS! YELLS!

New students, use your ability along this line and compose some original yells that will send the football team to victory. We are always in need of yells and you can help.

Misses Helen Garrison, Marie and Pauline Miller spent Sunday, September 24, with home folks in Hopkins.

ALUMNI NOTES.

Fred M. P. Lewis, '16, is head of the Manual Training Department in the Chillicothe High School.

Miss Anna Wells, '15, has accepted a position as teacher of the Third grade in the Pattonsburg school.

Orlo Quinn, '15, is beginning his second year of work in the High School of Lakota, North Dakota, as instructor in Manual Training. He will also act as athletic director.

Miss Nelle Wray, '10, has resigned her position as teacher in the Public Schools of Maryville. She has gone to Evanston, Ill., where she will attend Northwestern University. Miss Wray represented the Alumni Association on the staff of this paper. Miss Myrtle Wells, '15, has been appointed to represent the Association during Miss Wray's absence.

Miss Mary Halasey, '16, is teaching in the grades in Hazel, South akota, this year.

Miss Arlie Hulet, '14, and Miss Edna Dietz, '16, have positions in the schools of Clinton, Oklahoma.

Miss Frances Hahn, '16, has accepted the position in the Elmo schools caused by the resignation of Miss Martha Denny, '15. Miss Denny is teaching in Marshall, Mo.

Miss Anna Faris, '16, of Tarkio, and Egbert Jennings, '12, of King City, were married at the home of the bride, August 14. Both are graduates of the Normal School. Mrs. Jennings has been a successful teacher in the schools of northwest Missouri. Mr. Jennings, formerly county-superintendent of Gentry county, now superintendent of the King City schools, was an assistant in the department of Education here this summer.

TEN WORKING FOR DEGREE

There are at present eight students in school who will finish the Degree course by the close of this school year. They are: Misses Bernice Snelling, Marjorie Wilfley, Leora Ellwood, Elizabeth Sobbing and Messrs. Joe Lukens, Warren Breit, and Harlie Power. Fred Lewis and Fred Vandersloot will return in the summer to complete their work for the degree. These students are the first to take advantage of the advanced work offered by the school. All except two are already graduates of the school.

Former Students and Alumni

Are you keeping in touch with the happenings at Number Five by reading the items in the "Green and White Courier?" If not send your quarter at once so that you will not miss a single issue.

EUREKAN NOTES.

The Eureka Literary Society held its first meeting of the quarter, Thursday evening, September 14. After the program was rendered a business session was held. It was necessary to elect a president and vice-president. Maurice B. Fitzgerald, who was president, is not attending. Miss Mildred Garard, who was vice-president is teaching near Pattonsburg. The society elected Don Roberts to act as president; Miss Mahala Saville, vice-president; and Miss Lillie Mae Hall, treasurer. Joe Farmer was elected to represent the society on the staff of the "Green and White Courier."

Local Color .....Unknown Warbles.....Madame Schumann-Heinck Psychological Trigonometry.....Football .....Madame Cosine de Tangent Unidentified

This mysterious yet interesting program was given by the Eureka Thursday, September 21. Mr. Unknown appeared in the form of Chas. McReynolds and Miss Mary Lewis as Madame Schumann-Heinck played the newest rag time music. Madame Cosine de Tangent was given such a small amount of time that she was able to discuss only one phase of her work. This was the one dreaded by many students, that of "EQUATIONS." Miss Vella Booth appeared as the noted lady. An example will show the humor in the discussion. Nineteen reference books plus notebook, plus lesson plan, plus 1,569 frowns, plus 35 Sunday School expressions equal a General Methods student.

The game of "Football" was explained to the society by Verne Pickens. He said that the presence of rooters was fully as important as the work of the team. More than fifty students were present at this meeting. The membership of the society is limited to a smaller number but students who wish to hear the programs are always welcome.

EUREKANS ENJOY PICNIC.

The Eureka feel that "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." For this reason they have social affairs at different times during the year. The first of these was a picnic held Saturday afternoon, September 30. The young people met at the Library at two o'clock and from that place wended their way to the dredge boat. After a close inspection of this machinery, the party went north to the woods to forget their work and enjoy a few hours of play. It is never pleasant to walk, even

THE SCHEDULE FOR FOOT BALL

Six Games in Football Scheduled for First Season—Students Manifest Interest in Work.

Football practice is now in full swing. Coach Palfreyman is being assisted by C. H. Belting, head of the department of agriculture. Mr. Belting was a member of the All Western team while playing with the University of Illinois. Forty-five men reported for practice the first day. Of this number only a few have had previous experience in the game so the team must be built almost entirely from green material. Every day the men are being put thru hard practice and will be ready for the first game October 6.

When Walter Hanson, director of Athletics, was asked, "What are the football prospects this year?" he said, "We are not building air castles, as this is our first year in football. It takes time to develop a winning team but this year's experience and the rooters pulling for the team, win or lose, we will have a strong team next year." The coaches are also pleased with the outlook, considering this is our first year in football.

Mr. Hanson has written to three schools for the opening game at Maryville, October 6. These schools are, St. Joseph Veterinary College, Christian Brothers College, St. Joseph, and Highland College, Highland, Kansas. If Highland College does not play the opening game here, a game will be scheduled for October 27. Three conference games are necessary to be in the running for championship. We have four games with conference teams.

Missouri Wesleyan College at Cameron, October 20.

Tarkio College at Maryville, November 10.

Springfield State Normal at Maryville, November 17.

Kirksville State Normal at Kirksville, November 30.

Two years' contracts have been signed with Kirksville State Normal and Springfield State Normal. Next year Kirksville will play at Maryville and Springfield will be played on their home field.

The team has not been picked but the eleven will probably be chosen from the following men who have been showing good form to date: Byerrum, Nicholls, Hahn, H. Sawyers,

EDITORIAL.

The beginning of a new school year brings many new students to our school. New Students, we welcome you to our school. You are not yet acquainted with the habits of our school but you soon will be. Perhaps the most personage you should meet here is "School Spirit." This person may be met in nearly every part of the Normal building. However the best place to get acquainted with him is on the bleachers during a football game. There you forget the worries of Training school, the themes in English, the puzzling problems in Mathematics, the difficult constructions in Latin, and the arduous struggles in science and enjoy a nice, long conversation with School Spirit. Concentrate your mind upon the most interesting football game ever played on the Normal's football field and you will forget that the aforementioned student "worries" ever existed. Your presence there will help you, your School Spirit and most of all, the football team. Students! you are missing something if you haven't met School Spirit. He'll be glad to meet the girls and the boys will be delighted to introduce him. If you haven't met him do so at once.

E. M. S.

Is It True?

Why do the boys of this Normal school disappear from 4:15 p. m., until 6:00 p. m., every evening of the week? Some one suggests that the football coach might answer this question. If he can there's no complaint, for every student wants to see a winning football team this season.

IN HAPPSY LAND.

Once upon a time, in a bright, sunny land, lived a pretty little girl called Hildred. Altho it seemed that she had everything to make her happy, Hildred was often discontented. The girls at school were not kind, she thot, tho of course this was no more their fault than hers. If we are kind, other people are apt to be kind, too.

Well, one day, Hildred was so unhappy because Marian had asked all the other little girls to her party and she had been left out, that she decided to run away from home. She didn't care where she went, but trudged on, mile after mile. At last, when she was so tired she could go no farther she sat down on an old gray stile just at the top of a hill.

Now Hildred did not know it but this stile was just inside Happsies Land, and whoever goes into Happsies Land is not allowed to be unhappy for long. The cunning little people who live there are called the Happsies and they are the cheeriest little people in the world. Everybody likes them.

As Hildred sat there she didn't look the least bit like a pretty little girl. No, indeed. Her face was all drawn into ugly little shapes, and her mouth was just like a little new moon upside down; like this, all droopy at the corners.

But do you know, as she sat there, and before Hildred saw them at all, two dear little Happsies slipped up and stood one on each cheek. They began to work and would you believe it, the corners of her mouth stood up like a new moon bright side up, and she laughed a tiny bit! Then a mischievous Happsie threw off her hat and a dozen other little Happsies took her hands and flew with her after it. But such an odd hat! It flew on and on and still the Happsies chased it, bringing Hildred with them. She wasn't the least bit tired, she said. Still the hat flew. By and by the country grew different; cold and bleak. It seemed to Hildred. But when a Happsie saw this, he quickly offered her the little three cornered cap which he wore. How everything changed! It was a magic cap and as it was set upon her head she could see that the air was really colored like the most beautiful rose garden, that the sky was full of the beautiful Northern Lights, and the air felt warm and sweet.

At last they reached the huge palace where all the Happsies lived. It was really built of ice, but to Hildred, wearing the magic cap, it seemed to be made of the most lovely jewels. Without stopping, they hurried her in to a beautiful little round room, all built of ice. Here they left her for a moment, while they went to find Chief Happsie. When he came, she found him to be a beautiful old man with spun ice hair and beard.

He spoke slowly. "Earth child, I hear you are unhappy. Is it so?" "Yes," faltered Hildred. "Nobody loves me. I haven't any friends."

"Oh," said Chief Happsie, "I see I must show you over my castle."

So convoyed by a crowd of attendant Happsies, they visited one room after another of the palace.

"This," said the Chief, "is a class in smiling. The instructor is saying, 'One, two, three, smile!' and they all must do it. If they cannot, and some people have forgotten how, then two Happsies pull up the corners of their mouths. This class is busy working for another class. Yes, they are very happy, for they are doing these things because they wish to give their services. This is a class of little girls whose playmates are unkind to them. You will sit here."

So Hildred sat down beside a little girl in a gingham apron. Her face was hidden, so Hildred said, "What is the matter, little girl?" The little girl answered without looking up. "There is a little girl in our school that I so much wish to know. I want her to come to my party, but she is so stiff and unkind that I am afraid to ask her."

"Why-ee!" gasped Hildred.

The little girl looked up and who should it be but Marion, the school-mate whom Hildred had thot especially unkind! They looked at each other for a moment, then burst out laughing, and bowing low to the Happsies ran home to their land, ready to share the knowledge both had gained in the ice palace.

a short distance if one has a number of packages to carry, so the packages, which in this case contained the "eats," were sent ahead in jitneys. Having arrived at their destination, the group interested themselves in various games. Tiring of this they made use of the swings which had been put up. Some one spied the eats and immediately he was hungry. Then a fire was made over which to roast the wieners and marshmallows. Sandwiches, salads, pickles, fruit, coffee made up the rest of the menu. It was nearing twilight when the tired crowd started homeward, feeling that they had enjoyed themselves immensely.

Changes in Staff.

The beginning of a new school year brings changes in the personnel of the staff of the school paper. This year the following students will represent the different organizations of the school:

Cleo Lesan, Philomathean; Joe Farmer, Eurekan; Jessie Fannon, Excelsior; and Merle Levy, Senior class. No representatives have been chosen to represent the Y. W. C. A. and the Junior class. Elizabeth Mary Sobbing, who was elected Editor-in-Chief by the student body last January, holds that position until January 1, 1917.

Lauris M. Eck, formerly secretary to the president of this institution, is attending Northwestern University this year.

Graduating Class Organizes.

The graduating class of Number Five is composed this year of those students who will complete the courses for the Elementary Certificate, the Ninety-hour diploma and the B. S. Degree by the close of the summer session, 1917. This group met for the first time Friday September 22. At this time Newcomb C. Wagers was elected temporary chairman and Miss Della Andrews, temporary secretary. A committee was appointed to determine the number of officers, the system of voting and the rules of order to be used. The second meeting was held September 26. The committee gave its report which was accepted. The following officers were elected; Newcomb C. Wagers, President; Joe Lukens, vice president; Miss Della Andrews, secretary; Glenn Corum, treasurer; and W. A. Baker, sergeant at arms. Miss Merle Levy was elected to represent the class on the staff of the "Green and White Courier."

Assembly Notes.

Charles Reign Scoville and Mrs. Scoville and members of their party visited the Normal School Friday morning, September 15. During the assembly hour, Charles Forsythe, director of music and Mrs. Scoville each sang solos. Mr. Scoville then talked to the students. He urged them first to get the best material here for themselves that they might be able to do the best work. In order to do this one must get a margin on his work. To use the words of the speaker, "Make a place for yourself and then do your work. Should difficulties present themselves, do not give up. Use your will power and you will be able to overcome these difficulties."

In the absence of the speaker at the regular assembly September 28, W. J. Osburn, assistant in the department of Education, gave a short discussion of the four types of people. "I don't know where I'm going, but I'm on my way," the title of an old song, pictures the first type. By changing the words of this title slightly the other types were named. The second class is little better than the first. A person belonging to this class would say, "I know where I'm going, and I'm not on my way." The worst class is represented by the one who boasts, "I don't know where I'm going and I'm not on my way." This person has no ambition and is proud of the fact. Each person who says, "I know where I'm going, and I'm on my way," belongs to the fourth or best type. He knows what he wants to do and will endeavor to accomplish it.

PHILO NEWS.

The Home Coming Day for all Philomatheans will be October 20. All members now in school are especially urged to be present. Former members, if unable to attend in person, are requested to send their messages to Miss Lucile Snowberger, the secretary as soon as possible. If you were ever a Philo let us hear from you.

Several interesting programs have been given by the Philomatheans this quarter. A number of appreciative visitors have been present at each meeting, but there are still many students who have not taken advantage of this opportunity. If you want to meet a lively, happy bunch, who make you feel right at home in an instant, attend a meeting of the Philos.

Several people were rather surprised last Thursday to find that when they became Philomatheans, they declared themselves as being "lovers of wisdom." Since they have learned it, however, they have put forth every effort to live up to the name.

EXTENSION WORK.

President Ira Richardson was in St. Joseph Friday, September 29th, and met a number of the teachers of the St. Joseph schools and spoke to them concerning extension work under the direction of the Normal School. Some fifty teachers were present and indications now point to the organization of at least three classes of extension workers, one in Theory and Practice of Teaching, the second in Spanish, and the third in Type Studies in World Literature. A similar class will be organized among the five teachers of the Elmo schools in the Theory and Practice of Teaching.

Many requests for correspondence work are on file in the office, all of which indicates that the Normal School will be serving a large number of persons in addition to the resident students now enrolled.

State Superintendent Howard A. Gass

Our school community had known for some time of the serious illness of our beloved State Superintendent, but even with that we were not prepared to receive the message which came to us on Tuesday morning, September 19th, telling us of his death the evening before.

Superintendent Gass has been in many ways a vital factor in the development of the Normal School at this place. He has taken a keen interest in its work and no one has expressed more pleasure in its present growth and splendid outlook for the future than he. He is one of a group of men who have done much for the development of education and educational institutions in Missouri.

President Richardson attended his funeral Wednesday, September 20th, as representative from this school. Many were the expressions of loss to the state, and a beautiful tribute was paid the man in the presence of the administrative heads of each of the state educational institutions, state officials, faculty members, and members of the various state boards of which he was a member, and also in the beautiful floral offerings which were present in profusion. A simple but worthy service was held which was very much in keeping with the life of the man. The state has lost an efficient officer and our school a true friend.

Governor Major has appointed Mr. Uel W. Lampkin of Clinton, Mo., to succeed Superintendent Gass until an election is held to determine his successor. No changes will be made in the office force.

A. H. Cooper, county superintendent of Nodaway county schools, visited the Normal, September 27.
